

"SN" ("STUDY NAMES) OF "FOUND" ROSES
For a "found" rose to be exhibited in a class for which ARS ribbons or certificates are awarded, it must be listed in ARS latest official publication, showing an "Approved Exhibition Name" (AEN). Modern Roses 12 database lists many roses as "found"), and/or commercial synonyms, without "SN" (study names) or approved AEN. (Once ARS awards an AEN, the specimen is no longer considered a "found" rose). Check ARS's Official List for constant classification changes.
Listed below are "found" roses published in "Combined Rose List" (CRL) publications, from 1995/2009 with "SN" (study names). An ARS approved publication for "found" roses with "SN" study names, eligible to compete in special classes. Classification; Class; Color; Petal Count; and Roses in commerce (<>). For various reasons, some "SN" (study names) of roses are removed and new specimens listed.
"Found" roses are indicated with a "SN" (study name), without an "Approved Exhibition Name" (AEN), are entered under the specimens abbreviation, "SN" in classes for "found" roses, where these classes exist. Strictly for education value, no ARS awards. Show schedule writers are encouraged to include a special class for these "found" roses, lacking an official AEN.
